

laboratory diagnostics

Laboratory diagnostics enables the examination of samples, such as blood, tissue or urine, for specific indications of disease.

It is used both for diagnostics and stage classification of diseases, for monitoring their progress and therapy, and for the early detection of diseases.

In our practice laboratory we offer you the following laboratory parameters:

- Uric acid in serum
- inflammation parameters
- serological rheumatism diagnostics, including HLA-B27
- basic osteological laboratory

